

ARC ENVIRONMENTAL CONSULTANTS
PROSPECTUS
2007/08

WHO WE ARE:

Arc Environmental Consultants was created in 1999, as a trading subsidiary of the I2K Group. Since then the group has grown to 17 staff and has gathered considerable expertise in the fields of environmental impact assessment, landscape ecology, species protection, habitat management, landscape design and conservation; all of which can be accessed through the Arc team.

OUR MISSION:

Arc's job is simply to help you to deal efficiently and effectively with the environmental problems, issues and constraints that you may face. Arc aims to provide a solution that is tailored to your needs and to those of your project.

WHAT WE DO:

Arc provides a variety of skilled services:

- Environmental policy, strategy and master-planning.
- Environmental research and development.
- Environmental scoping, site selection and project management.
- Pre-purchase and Due Diligence assessments and site audit.

- Environmental Impact Assessment.
- Environmental planning, mitigation, compensation and Section 106 agreements.
- Phase 1 survey.
- Ecological and species survey.
- Protected and designated landscapes, habitats and species.
- Environmental permits and licences.
- Landscape design.
- Wildlife and conservation.
- Watercourse and wetland design and management, attenuation, diffuse pollution control.

WHERE WE DO IT

Arc is based on the Isle of Wight but with easy access to trains, planes and roads from Bournemouth, Southampton and Portsmouth we can work anywhere where we are needed.

MARKET NICHE

Both on the Island and on the mainland the feedback we receive from our partners and clients is similar – that there are few single organizations that can work across the range of our interests and abilities and improvise so successfully when circumstances demand it.

We are very familiar with national and regional networks of agencies, local authority departments and functions, voluntary sector groups and special interests and we find that this in turn allows us to be imaginative (but remain well-informed) in our approach to work commissioned by private and public sectors.

Our clients and partners like the fact that we are real people giving real answers to their problems and helping to make real and lasting progress.

Island 2000 Trust is the non-profit owner of Arc Environmental Consultants. Arc's income supports charitable community and environment work on the Isle of Wight.
